Certeon and BA-Insight Partner to Accelerate Enterprise Data Location and Retrieval

-- Combined Solution Significantly Improves Worker Productivity Across the WAN --

BURLINGTON, Mass. – August 21, 2006 – Certeon, the first vendor to provide secure application acceleration from desktop to the data center, today announced that BA-Insight has joined the Certeon Partner Acceleration Program as a Complementary Technology Partner. Combining their solutions, Certeon and BA-Insight will enable remote office workers to dramatically increase the speed and effectiveness of searching and retrieving critical business information.

BA-Insight's research has shown that 40 percent of information workers complain that they can't find the information that they need to do their jobs because of ineffective corporate information accessibility. Their flagship product, Longitude for SharePoint, significantly increases the efficiency of global Microsoft® SharePoint® data searches and retrieval. BA-Insight will use Certeon's S-Series™ Application Acceleration Appliances with its unique Application Acceleration Blueprints™ to accelerate the retrieval of mission critical data and information and boost enterprise employee productivity.

The combined Certeon and BA-Insight solution delivers the optimum search capabilities for customers in the engineering, consulting and government markets whose knowledge worker productivity is diminished due to the difficulty of quickly locating and retrieving enterprise information.

"Longitude is not just an IT solution. It is a business solution and an important tool for any company that wants to increase productivity for information workers and empower employees to make better decisions through improved information access," said Martin Muldoon, vice president, sales and marketing at BA-Insight. “Certeon helps us to further accelerate data retrieval across a WAN so our customers can be more productive and see a higher ROI in their business.”

While Longitude for SharePoint efficiently locates and accesses precisely the right data, congestion and bottlenecks across a WAN can slow down the delivery of critical business information to the end-user. Certeon’s Application Acceleration Blueprints for generic HTTP/HTTPS traffic and specific Microsoft applications such as SharePoint Products and Technologies are application-intelligent, enabling 1000 percent acceleration in application response times. Remote office workers can experience optimal speed, security and scalability when searching and retrieving information, without changing the application or increasing existing network bandwidth.

“The collaboration of BA-Insight and Certeon delivers enterprise knowledge workers a high level of information availability and rapid access to data in Microsoft Office® and SharePoint portal environments,” said John Lloyd, vice president, business development at Certeon. “In addition to increased performance, reliability and scalability, BA-Insight customers will also see lower networking and operational costs as the result of this combined solution.”
